About the Teamwork Program:

YouthForce’s Teamwork Internship Program offers teens a meaningful entry-level work experience supported by caring adults, positive peer and professional networks, and on the job training. TeamWork Interns play key roles during Seattle Seahawks home games (and other events as needed), delivering the best possible game-day experience for fans and gathering data to improve CenturyLink Field business practices. The TeamWork Internship Program extends beyond the game day job; teens must also participate in college readiness, career exploration, and financial literacy workshops held throughout the season in addition to periodic volunteer events. Interns who are in good standing at the end of each season are invited to apply for the following season if they still meet the eligibility requirements.

YouthForce University: YFU Curriculum focuses on topics that prepare interns for landing their next job, excelling in that job, and developing a plan for after high school. YFU uses workshops, events, conferences, and one-on-one check-ins to help prepare interns to achieve their post-high school plan and be successful after their internship ends. Interns are REQUIRED to attend YFU workshops/events to maintain eligibility to work within the TeamWork Internship Program.
